

Then it got worse. A girl in a park spilled her whole big box of raisins. Fifteen pigeons flew to those raisins and ate them faster than that girl could give a quick cry. Then the fifteen pigeons flew off.

Then forty-five cats happened to ask for "Cheese, please." Although it just sounded like "Meow, meow," their owners understood.

